“THE GREAT COMMISSION - LUKE 24:44-47”

BY: JOSHUA PAPPAS

The passage in Luke roughly parallel to those we've considered in Matthew and Mark that we might call a Great Commission passage is part one of the two part commission completed in Acts 1:8. Matthew's focuses on discipleship, Mark's on salvation, but Luke focuses on sin against a backdrop of prophecy.

Then he said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled." Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, and said to them, "Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead, and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem..." (Luke 24:44-47).

The church and her mission is the fulfillment of ancient prophecy. It isn't an afterthought or "plan b," but has been God's plan from before the foundation of the world (Ephesians 1:4; 1Peter 1:20). The church is God's plan to save the world, and the commission which is the church's mission from Jesus was, is, and forever will be the only way!

Luke's parallel to the Great Commission passages focuses on sin in two ways. Christians are commissioned to preach (1) repentance and (2) remission of sins. Repentance means a change of mind resulting in a changed behavior. What Jesus did for us is enough motivation to inspire all of us to want to follow him. He died for our sins which means we were (or still are if outside the church) all dead in our sins (Ephesians 2:1; 2Corinthians 5:14-15). Matthew and Mark taught about belief and baptism as steps into salvation. Luke shows us that repentance, or turning from our sins to embrace the will of Christ is part of the process. Putting it all together, by believing in Jesus, accepting his authority and repenting of sin, we may be baptized (immersed) in water for, as Acts 2:38 shows, the remission of sins. This is what every true believer believes and proclaims and all true churches of Christ are unified in carrying out this truly Great Commission.
