dominion, and speak evil of dignities (Jude 8).”

“LEANN DUKE (1957-2020)”

BY: KERRY DUKE

[The following tribute to LeAnn Duke was written by Kerry Duke on the death of sister Duke. She passed away on January 6, 2020.]

After an almost five-year battle with a blood cancer LeAnn has found peace in the arms of our Lord. Time would fail me and words cannot express the gratitude I have for the countless words of encouragement, the selfless acts of kindness, and the unending prayers so many of you offered for her and for me. LeAnn was a giver. She was at her best and was the most content when she could do something for others. I have watched her spend endless hours listening to people’s problems. I have seen her study and study to prepare herself to teach others. I have taken her to church services many, many times when the disease that eventually took her life was draining her energy. She bore heavy burdens and fought a good fight until the end.

A memorial service will be held in her memory Saturday, January 11 at the West End church of Christ in Livingston, Tennessee at 11 am with visitation from 9-11 am. In lieu of flowers we ask that donations be made in her honor to the LeAnn Duke Memorial, Tennessee Bible College, 1616 McCulley Road, Cookeville, Tennessee 38506. [The memorial service has already taken place. As her obituary relates, sister LeAnn’s “first passion was serving the Lord. She loved singing hymns, studying the Bible, and helping the poor, the abused, and the sick and teaching others the Bible. She loved and adored her children and grandchildren and was thrilled to spent time with them. LeAnn loved traveling and working with Kerry. She was blessed to go to Russia, Taiwan, and Singapore with him as well as numerous places in the U.S. to spread the gospel. She also enjoyed traveling to different places in the United States just to relax. LeAnn loved writing, where her articles appeared in Christian Woman magazine and other gospel publications. She contributed two chapters to the book "My Sister's Keeper" which has gone through numerous printings. She also wrote an unpublished mystery novel. LeAnn enjoyed crafts of all kinds and was especially good at making bows for weddings and other occasions. After an almost five-year battle with a blood cancer LeAnn has found peace in the arms of our Lord. She was a giver, and was at her best and the most content when she could do something for others. LeAnn spend endless hours listening to people's problems and study the same to prepare herself to teach others. She bore heavy burdens and fought a good fight until the end.”]

Activity

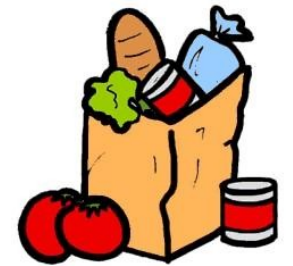

Moses died at Mount Nebo,
There was weeping thru out the
land;
How long did the mourning last,
As they honored this great man?
