“A Friendly Church Seeking to Edify Each Other
as We Shine as Lights unto the World”

Serving Since 1923

“These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit. But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life (Jude 19-21).”

“TITUS: PART 1”

BY: WAYNE COATS

One of the traits of normalcy in humans is to have companions. There are diverse reasons for having good, trusted helpers and companions. We can be a success or failure dependent upon the kind of travelers with which we choose to walk. As a fellow laborer of Paul, we think young Titus must have been just about perfect. When Paul went to Jerusalem to consider the question of circumcision, he took Titus with him.

One of the outstanding qualities in this young man was his dependability. Paul knew he could leave Titus to do a job and things would be accomplished in the right order (Tit. 1:5). How wonderful to be of such genuine and untarnished character and to merit the trust of a man such as Paul. If people can have no confidence in our word, work, and performance; then the world is not profited by our presence in it.

There were many things in Crete that needed to be finished. Paul uses the expression ta leiponta which refers to some things which were left undone and also to some things which survive. The church needs stout-hearted and trustworthy men with steel in their spine. Men are needed who are not afraid to tackle the disorderly array both in and out of the church. The purely positive approach can never set things right in a world which is woefully wrong. The disposition to sing a few lullabies and to whisper a few sweet nothings is one of the reasons for the lack of soundness in the church, and the only remedy is to practice the preachments of Paul when he said, “Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (1:13). This is the inspired remedy for slow bellies in any age (1:12).

Titus was instructed by Paul to use “sound speech, that cannot be condemned” (2:8). With all the piping and blowing of sounds which are uncertain, how marvelous it is to hear that doctrine which is sound.

When the wrong becomes so strong, a weak and timid approach will not suffice; hence Paul wrote, “These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (2:15). There is that area which is unprofitable, and also there is that which is good and profitable (3:8-9). There is that with which we need to be involved, and there is that which we must avoid.
