There can be no peace until these false doctrines are withdrawn. Yet already the propaganda makers are at work declaring, "Understanding Matthew 19:3-9 is really only a matter of judgment, and each person and each congregation should make up their own minds."

Such propagandists would divide the church into three factions: (1) those who believe what faithful saints have believed since the first century—Christ's law of marriage is applicable to all men; (2) those who believe Christ's law of marriage is "covenant legislation"—that is, it applies only to members of the church of Christ married to members of the church of Christ; (3) those who say it doesn't make any difference which way you believe.

No wonder the Holy Spirit spoke of "a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways" (Jam. 1:3). Can anyone imagine the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit adopting three different views on the very foundation of the home—that is, marriage? God forbid! Yet, that is exactly what the church is being pushed into. But, of course, propaganda is like that. Who can believe such?

"A Friendly Church Seeking to Edify Each Other

“PROPAGANDA IS LIKE THAT: PART 2”

BY: JIM E. WALDRON

Even today when one is talking to preachers from what is called “the Conservative Christian Church” they will often say, “I can worship with the instrument or without it.” When they have their way, it is with it. They show no regard for what is authorized in Christian music and no remorse over the split their theological brethren caused in the body of Christ in the last century.

The type of propaganda mentioned above has not been confined to the church in the past, but is very much alive in the current controversy over the biblical teaching on marriage, divorce and remarriage. Concurrent with the rise of the divorce rate in the United States, which was especially high immediately after the Second World War and during the Viet Nam War, a half dozen or more divorce theories have been raised to persuade men that Matthew 19:3-9 doesn’t mean what it says for all people. One of the most subtle of these hypotheses is the one which declares that Jesus’ teaching in this passage is “covenant legislation.” When that little theological nubbin is shucked of its ecclesiastical husks, what it means is—Christ’s law of marriage applies only to members of the church of Christ married to members of the church of Christ

The claim is that the heathens have their own “law of the heart” marriage system while Christ’s law of marriage is ours exclusively. (Wonder how that theology would stack up against the doctrine that marriage is a sacrament of the Roman Catholic Church?) But where does the propaganda come in? Already we are being admonished, “Don’t divide over the marriage and divorce question”—and that by the very ones who have brought this doctrine in and now are pushing it. Their implication is that the ones who brought in the false theory of “covenant legislation” are not responsible for the division that has and is occurring.

Those who oppose this “covenant legislation” youngster, or the “divorced fornicator can remarry” theory, or the “1 Corinthians 7:15 gives another reason for divorce” doctrine, or the “baptism sanctifies an adulterous relationship” assumption, did not start the war. Those who have invented these heresies brought them into the church, and they must repent and take them out if they want peace. For right now, they are saying, “peace, peace; when there is no peace” (Jer. 6:14). These errors teach men they can live in fornication and be servants of God (see Rev. 2:20).
